IV. PRESENTATIONS: “Massage Therapy Training Program”

Martha Malina, Director, reported on the initial success of the College’s Massage Therapy Training Program, and thanked the trustees for supporting the new program. She described a rigorous curriculum including 650 hours of classroom study in addition to clinical experience, in subjects including anatomy, kinesiology, Swedish massage, neuromuscular therapy, sports massage, and reflexology, as well as a course in awareness, communications and ethics that stresses clear communication and standards for the therapeutic relationship. The program has a great appeal to nontraditional students and the clinics have proven popular.
Although the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does not require massage therapists to be licensed, most other states do. HACC’s program is accredited by the National Certification Board for Massage Therapy, and Ms. Malina encourages students to take the accrediting organization’s exam because it is recognized by 38 states that have licensure requirements.

In addition to day spas, many hair salons and chiropractic offices now employ massage therapists. It is not yet a field where graduates can usually expect to immediately find full-time jobs with benefits, Ms. Malina said, and students learn as part of their training that they must be able to promote themselves in order to develop a successful practice.

VIII. RECOMMENDATIONS/REPORTS/COMMENTS FROM THE CHAIR

As newly elected Board Chair, Mr. Schell thanked the Board members for the trust they had shown in the slate of officers and noted that there was much work to be accomplished in the coming year. With two vacancies on the Board, Mr. Schell said, Ms. Davis and the Nominating Committee were actively seeking candidates who would provide the Board with a “comprehensive representation.” He encouraged the trustees to give Ms. Davis their recommendations for nominees, preferably individuals from the East Shore and, particularly, from Harrisburg, to reflect the representation of the student body and also the minority community that the College serves.

Mr. Schell said he would survey the Board for the trustees’ preferences for dates and format of the upcoming Board retreat. He would also ask their preferences for committee assignments and what day and time would be best for the Board’s regular monthly meetings.

C. DISCUSSION: COLLEGE SECURITY MEASURES

Dr. Baehre summarized the College’s actions in the wake of the fatal shootings at Virginia Tech. The College had already been developing an Emergency Response Plan before the shootings, and soon afterwards finalized the plan and began training.

Two days after the shootings, the College received a “credible threat” of violence and decided to arm Safety and Security officers on a temporary basis, through Commencement. The administration then held a panel discussion with faculty members and, later, a tabletop scenario exercise for individuals with key roles in the Emergency Response Plan. Local police officials were among the exercise participants.

When the decision was made to temporarily arm the Security officers, many College staff, faculty, and students shared with Dr. Baehre their personal opinions. The majority indicated that even though they don’t like weapons, they understand that times are changing and said they would feel safer knowing the Security officers could provide protection in response to a threat. A local police chief who participated in the tabletop training exercise echoed those sentiments, describing himself as a pacifist who believes that arming officers enables them to help people when there is a threat of violence.

In response to questions from the trustees, Dr. Baehre and Mr. Franklin confirmed that the Security officers were already provided with two non-lethal weapons: batons and pepper spray. Although Security officers did not carry weapons except to go to the bank, the College required all to be certified annually to carry firearms (instead of every five years, as the law requires). The Pennsylvania State Police, who provide the certification, also provide criminal background checks on Security officers. The weapons are owned by the College and are not carried home.

Dr. Baehre said other community colleges in Pennsylvania were taking similar actions. A year ago, only two of the schools had armed their Security officers. By this summer at least half were expected to have taken that step.

Following the discussion, the Board of Trustees approved the attached resolution:

PERMANENT ARMING OF THE COLLEGE’S SECURITY OFFICERS  (Res. 44.184)

Moved: John S. Jordan
Seconded: Sally S. Klein  Motion carried
IX. RECOMMENDATIONS/REPORTS/COMMENTS FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dr. Baehre reported that enrollment for the Summer I session was 7% ahead of last year, all campuses combined. For the Summer II session, enrollment was lagging 2006’s enrollment, at just 98%. For the Fall session, credit hours were 2% below 2006 figures and headcount 3.5% below. Student Services staff were analyzing the reason for the lower yield on applications. The Harrisburg Campus had budgeted a 1% increase over last year; the other campuses were closer to reaching 100%.

The Major Gifts Campaign process was proceeding, and the first training session had been held for the Oversight Committee. A committee of community leaders was being convened for the Harrisburg region campaign. The campaign would be conducted with silent, public and family phases.

Dr. Baehre reported that she and Mr. Franklin had met with representatives of the Pennsylvania Department of Education and presented the potential sponsorship scenarios that were developed through the work of the HACC Sponsorship Task Force. The College is expecting a ruling from PDE to indicate whether approval of all 22 sponsoring school districts would be needed to change the current sponsorship arrangement. If the ruling were received by August, it would be possible to go to the school districts for a vote by October 1.

Mr. Jordan said the Cumberland Valley School Board reacted quite favorably when Delegate Body Chair Audrey Hannah discussed the issue of a change in the sponsorship arrangement. Dr. Baehre said the change should appeal to the public because it would shift part of the costs to the consumer instead of the school district.

Dr. Baehre also announced that the College would be awarded the Seal of Approval by APPA, the Association of Higher Education Facilities Officers (formerly the Association of Physical Plant Administrators) at the APPA annual conference in Baltimore in July. HACC was the first community college to achieve the designation, usually awarded only to four-year colleges and universities.
